I, Kim, Minister of Foreign Affairs to the Corean Government, do hereby give notice that there are dishonest Coreans who make false contracts, and forge the reals of our Government to deceive foreigners. I baving been aware of this, have almady notified all the Foreign Ministers, two years ago, that in future all contracts between foreigners and Coreans, whether public or private, must bear the seal of the Foreign Office, or else they would be considered null and void. Recently, it was rumoured that Kim Yuk Qum had taken some of the Government contracts to Japan, so attempts were made to obtain and bring them back to Corea. These contracts have since been examined by me, and other Ministers, and we have found them to be quite false. The matter was reported to our King, who was exceedingly sorry, and ordered me to again notify the honoured Ministers of all the Nations, that hereafter any contract, not bearing the seal of the Foreign Office, must be considered invalid. Dated the 6th day, 8th moon, 12th year of Kwang Hau.

tion by fire of the Gymnuse Theatre on Wednesday last. The lire broke out in the early part of the afternoon, and the whole place was soon ablaze. The premises, with contents, were insured in the China Fire Insurance Co. and their engine was despatched to the scene, as soon as the alarm was given; but too late to be of any material service, as the flames spread rapidly and soon devoured the entire building, spreading to the Racquet Court and destroying the Verandahs and dressing rooms. Nothing was saved from the Theatre, which contained private effects lent for the performance (which was to have taken place last evening), besides theatrical properties. On Thursday an official enquiry was made as to the origin of the outbreak, at the Consulate, but owing to the contradictory evidence of the Chinese witnesses, no satisfactory result was arrived at, but there can be no doubt that precaution against fire had been taken, and that the occurrence was purely accidental. The full amount insured. 22,000, has been recovered, but we are afraid it will hardly suffice to replace the original stage and scenery.

last night will be acknowledged by the little less of the glaring fireworks element than at former fêtes, but the objects of interest to be seen were more numerous and the amusements more varied. One grand characteristic, too, of last night's demonstration was the order that everywhere prevailed among a vast crowd of almost all nations and tongues. The arrangements from the first must have been well planned. and they were carried out in a manner which reduced friction and all inconveniences to a minimum. The order at the doors, from all but one of which entrance was to be had. was as near perfection as could be expected. There seemed to be no scrambling and pushing, and we believe by the precautions they took the Police allowed very few if any to enter in the way thieves and robbers are said to get into the sheep fold In the evening the crowd of Chinese did not seem quite so dense as at the previous fête, but the earlier hour of opening allowed numbers to come and go before the evening crash.

Of the object for which the fite was held very little need now be said, a full description having been given on the occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of the Alice Memorial Hospital building. The Hospital is a new departure in the way of reaching the natives and bettering their lot, and if through its instrumentality not only the sufferings of a few poor people are alleviated but a knowledge of European practice is inculcated to native students, more far-reaching beneficent results than are yet dreamt of may be at

But without further preface we will pass round the ground and note as fully as possible the striking objects that meet the eye. Entering by the lower western gate the first thing that attracts attention is the lighting up of the grounds. This was accomplished by strings of Japaness and Chinese paper lanterns attached to the trees all round the walks In the centre the four gas-lamps shed a bright steady light across a large part of the grounds; and up above all the tiny lamps beams' and dimmed the refulgence and glare of the artificial lights. The first object that the eye rests on after mounting the steps is a huge scaffold-like erection which gives one an idea that some hundred crimimals are to be strong and that the whole domonstration consists in rejoicing over the event. And here, though scarcely in order as to time, it may be fitting to say a few words about the burning pagedas and other fire constructions that were really dropped from the scaffold. The fire-works had not perhaps the quantity of spluttering glare which the Chinese like to see, and some of them thought that in this respect the fete was behind the one of last year. Then there were two works firing away from different ends of the Garden, and there was not such a long interval as last night between the flare-ups. But the show was nevertheless a good one and feasted the eyes of the dense crowd of celestials that collected in the lower terraces when the blesing began. On the lowermost terrace is the largest structure on the ground, which was fitted up for a European theatre; and to Europeans, the performance there formed doubtless one of the chief attractions

THE LOSS OF THE NORMANTON. The following is the finding of the Court which held an enquiry at the British Congulate at Hiogo into the circumstances attending the lo-s of the steamer Normanton :-

That the Normanton was a steam vessel. schooner rigged, of 1,533.45 tons register tonnage, built at Scotswood-on-Tyne in 1882, and belonging to the port of London. It appears from the evidence given before this Court that she sailed from Yokohama at or about 6.30 p.m. on the 23rd October, 1885, bound for Hyogo with a part cargo of toa and general cargo, a crew of thirty-eight hands all told on the Articles, one China boy, as well as twenty-three Japanese pas-

It is quite absurd to disguise the passing Omaisaki at 6.40 a.m. on the 24th, 14 miles off. From there the course steered was west-south-west, errect magnetic, until 6 p.m., the ship going nine and a half knots. After passing Onnisaki the satmosphere was clear, with clouds and fresh breezes from the eastward, until 4 p.m. Afterwards, it came on to rain, the wind blowing fresher from the south-east. At 6 p.m. the course was changed to south-west. by-west, correct magnetic, the weather continuing hazy, with rain. A little before 7 o'clock p.m. it was raining heavily, and the topsails were taken in. Land was at that moment reported on the port bow. the engines were eased for a moment, and then nut on full speed ahead again. The helm was at first starboarded, and immediately put hard aport, when the port side of the ship grazed heavily on a rock, which tore open the plates in the engine-room above and below the line of the water ballast tank. The water rushed into the engineroom, the pumps were instantly put on, but the water coming through the tunnel at the same time, gained rapidly. The tunnel and cross bunker doors were inmediately shut. An examination of the holds from the deck showed that those forward of the stoke-hole were dry, but the after hold was filling fast and the ship settling by the stern. Immediately on the ship striking the master fordered out the boats. Owing to the forward tackle of the : starboard life-boat being cut, and the after which unfortunately occasioned the loss commendation that no vessels should carryoverboard of Francis Bernard, A.B. port life-boat and pinnace were successfully lowered, and the starboard life-boat after-

As soon as the boats were awang out offorts were made by the master, mates, carpenter and bontswain to get the passengers out of the alley-way on the upper deck where they were, in order to enter the boats: the engineers endeavouring to get the Lascar firemen into the boats. The water coming up to level of the after deck and into the alley-ways, these endeavours were continued, but the Japanese passengers refused, throughout, to leave or enter the boats. Twenty-eight of the crew and the China boy succeeded in entering the boats before the ship foundered. The ship's masts were seen for about five minutes from one of the boats, and nothing further either of the vessel or of those remaining on board, with the exception of the boatswain, who was picked up in the morning by the captain's boat, having been floating all night in the water on a lifebuoy. Members of the Naval Court, The Hiogo News remarks :-It is singularly unfortunate that the captain, officers and crow of the Normanton did not succeed in rescuing—even by main force-a single one of the twenty-three Japanese passengers on board that ill-fated fact that the loss of every passenger hears on the face of it a remarkably ominous appearance, and is bound to give occasion to ngly remarks, however baseless those remarks may be. For that reason, if for none other, the absence of even one Japanese to corroborate the evidence given at the inquiry is much to be regretted, and probably no person feels this more acutely than the captain of the Normanton. On the point referred to the Finding of the Naval Court is, of course, officially conclusive, no matter how supported, and therefore hardly open to fair criticism. In other respects, however, the Finding seems peculiar. Careful perusal of the evidence shows that it fails to support the assertion that the bulkheads were of the alightest service, and as a matter of fact one of the survivors stated to the writer that they succumbed at once. It is significant that this particular witness was not usked a single question bearing upon that part of the inquiry, but of course this may perhaps, have been mere oversight. Again, in what way does the evidence prove that life bolts and Holme's patent lights for burning in water would have been of the slightest service to the poor passengers drowning in the alley-way of the sinking steamer like rats in a hole? Surely it would have been a more sensible outcome of the investigation if, instead of wandering off into admiration of performances that resulted in nothing of value, and indulging in tackle getting fouled in the darkness, an deductions not warranted by the evidence, accident occurred in lowering that boat the Court had included in its Finding a re-> report of the foundering of the Normanton, which resulted in the loss of all the Japanese passengers, while the captain and twentyfive of the crew managed to save themselves, has excited an unpleasant feeling among Japanese, who naturally entertain suspicion as to the conduct of the survivors. The fact that not even a single Japanese out of such a number was saved, even by accident, prevents Japanese readers of the report from believing what is said as to the unfortunate passengers. The Tokyo Commercial and Industrial Association is considering the affair seriously, and proposes to urge that measures be taken to prevent the recurrence of such horrible accidents.

Then came shortness of breath hour. and a sense of suffocation, especially nights, with clammy sweat, and I would have to get out of bed and sometimes open a door or window in winter weather to fill my lungs wi h the cold air.

About six years ago I became so had that I could not sleep in bed, but had to take my unquiet rest and dreamy sleep sitting in an armchair. My affliction seemed to be working downward into my bowels as well as upwards into my lungs and throat. In the violent coughing spasms which grew more frequent, my abdomen would expand and collapse and at times it would seem that I should suffocate. All this time I was reduced in strength so that I could perform no hard labour and my spirits were consequently much depressed

Early in this last spring I had a still more severe spasmodic attack, and my family and neighbours became alarmed, believing that certainly I would not survive, when a neighbour, who had some knowledge, or had heard of the medicine, sent to Aberystwith by the driver of the Omnibus Post, some seven miles distant, and fetched a bottle of Mother Seigel's Curative-Syrup.

This medicino they administered to me according to the directions, when to their surprise and delight no less than my own, the spasm ceased. I became at case, and my stomach was calmed. My bowels were moved as by a gentle cathartic, and I | \ felt a sense of quiet comfort all through such as I had not before realized in many years. I could walk around the house and breathe comfortably in a few hours after I had taken the medicine. I have continued to take the medicine daily now for something over two months, and I can lie down and sleep sweetly at nights and have not since had a recurrence of those terrible spasms and sweatings. I have been so long broken down and reduced in my whole system that I have not tried to perform any very hard out-door labour, deem- Sona ing it best to be prudent lest by over-exertion I may do myself injury before my | SELTZER strength is fully restored. I feel that my stomach and bowels have been and are being thoroughly renovated and renewed by the medicine. In fact I feel like a new

I have been much congratulated by my neighbours, especially by the good Vicar HONGKONG AND WHAMPOA DOCK of Llanry tyd, who with his sympathetic wife have come three miles to shed tears of ov on my recovery. I bade Mr Pugh goodbye, happy that even one at least among thousands had found a remedy for an aggravating disease. Believing this remarkable case of Dyspentic Asthma should be known to the public. I beg to submit the above facts as they are related to me. F. T. W.
